Prelude: A Textbook for College Students is an English textbook prescribed for first-year BCom, BSc, BSc (IT) and BCA (Science) students at Gondwana University, Gadchiroli, and has been prepared as per the Choice-Based Credit System (CBCS) guidelines of the University Grants Commission (UGC). The book has sections on prose, poetry, grammar and communication skills and thus offers a pedagogically comprehensive course in English.

Literature units cover a range of topics and include additional material on the writer and the text, as well as a glossary and comprehension questions that will help learners engage with the text while reinforcing what is learnt. Grammar units are intended to raise students' levels of proficiency by making them more accurate, intelligible and, hence, confident when speaking and writing in English. The section on communication skills includes topics on some useful oral and written communication skills that are relevant to their needs as students and later in their professional life as well.
